Outsider impressed by FCT

To the editor:

The 19th annual Colorado Theatre Festival was last weekend in Idaho Springs. Well more than 100 people, representing theatre companies and patrons from across the state, enjoyed the many fine performances. It was a true celebration of excellence in theatre.

The Fremont Civic Theatre of Cañon City performed "Postcards" in the main stage competition. Three women relaxing on a beach befriend each other and try to analyze and solve each other's problems. The production garnered the Best Costume award for the festival, as well as an All State Acting Award for Jennifer Barnes-Gatzke. Additionally, Fremont Civic won the Techtination award, which is given to the group who exhibited the best total backstage coordination.

As president of the Colorado Community Theatre Coalition, I would like to encourage you to patronize the work of this theatre. The presence of theatre like Fremont Civic Theatre in your community adds to the overall quality of life available to all.
